

APPEL DE PARIS

International Declaration on Diseases due to Chemical Pollution, the 7th of May, 2004

February 18, 2015

Ladies and gentlemen,

The ECERI (European Cancer and Environment Research Institute), in partnership with the ARTAC (Association for Research and Treatments Against Cancer) and ISDE (International Society of Doctors for the Environment) is organizing the fifth conference of the Paris Appeal, at the Royal Academy of Medicine in Brussels, Belgium. This international scientific event will be held on May 18, 2015 and will be entitled:

WHO IDIOPATHIC ENVIRONMENTAL INTOLERANCE: WHAT IS THE ROLE OF ELECTROMAGNETIC FIELDS AND CHEMICALS?

A focus on Electrohypersensitivity (EHS) and multiple chemical sensitivity (MCS)

The focus will be on hypersensitivity related to electromagnetic fields and chemicals (EHS and MCS). Leading international scientists will meet with the aim to provide scientific arguments for the inclusion of these syndromes in the context of Idiopathic Environmental Intolerance, which has already been acknowledged by the WHO.

The conference will address the scientific and medical community and also bring together MEPs and NGOs and it will be followed by an Environmental Medicine training, on May 19, 2015.

All relevant information, program and registration details are posted on our website www.appel-de-paris.com (payment by credit is available).

For those wishing to sponsor the event, you can email us at appeldeparis2004@gmail.com. Information regarding how to rent exhibition space at the Academy of Medicine is also provided.

Sincerely,
The Organizing Committee of the Paris Appeal
